

Teaching Portland's Black History through Primary Sources

An Educator's Workshop

The Cottonwood School of Civics and Science is pleased to offer a 3-day workshop to prepare educators to teach the middle school curriculum

Civil Rights and Civil Wrongs: A History of Portland's Black Community.

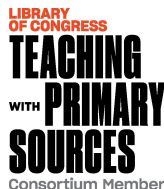

This free workshop includes:

- Hands-on experience with standards-based lessons, led by the curriculum's authors
- Training in inquiry-based teaching practices using primary sources using local resources and materials from the Library of Congress
- Guest speakers: culturally responsive teaching practices; oral histories
- Opportunities to adapt the curriculum to your classroom or school and receive ongoing support through the next school year
- Many more valuable resources to take into the classroom

This 3 day workshop will take place August 13-15, 2019 at the Cottonwood School of Civics and Science in the South Waterfront neighborhood of Portland

All interested educators are encouraged submit an application. Electronic forms available at www.thecottonwoodschoool.org under "Professional Development." Space is limited.

Application deadline May 31st, 2019.

This workshop is sponsored in part by the Library of Congress Teaching with Primary Sources Western Region Program, coordinated by MSU Denver.

Photo Credits : Oregon Historical Society; CN 023743 (upper left), Portland Archives A2010-003.5993 (lower right)